EDITION 90

October, 2015

Meeting Highlights :

- President Bruce Taylor called our Founder's Day and Annual General meeting to order; followed by a group singing of "O Canada".
- Bruce continued by calling upon our Past President, Ted Abbot, to come forward and introduce the morning's guest speaker, Nancy Payne.
- Nancy is the editor of Kayak, Canada's history magazine for kids, which is published four times a year by Canada's History Society. She grew on a farm south of Lindsay and attended I.E. Weldon S.S. Nancy obtained her Bachelor and Master of Journalism from Carleton University. She has freelanced for many major Canadian publications including Harrowsmith, Canadian Living, the Toronto Star and Globe and Mail, and also served as Director of Communications for the Trillium Lakelands District School Board for two years. She also conducts workshops on clear communications for a Toronto firm. She presently lives northeast of Lindsay with her husband, Dennis Grignon, and their two teenaged sons.
- Her presentation was called, "Canada's National Symbols" and here is a brief outline of it.
  - o She commenced by stating, yes she is presently the editor of the Kayak magazine, which is children's magazine that presents our Canadian history in a way that they learn and enjoy at the same time. She informed the group that she had brought some samples of this magazine for membership to view and take a copy home to share one with a child they know.
  - o Their readers are mostly from about seven or eight to about 12 or 13 years old;
  - o she stated the past issue of Kayak in February was all about our national symbols, and especially the flag;
  - o the first part of her presentation, she talked about these early flags that flew over Canada :
    1. French Royal flag;
    2. Cross of St. George flag;
    3. Royal Union flag;
    4. other flags from our past and where they flew :
      - flags from countries like Spain (B.C. in 1789), Russia (B.C.'s coast from 1741 to 1784), American (trading posts in Alberta in the 1700s), and the Red Ensign (our unofficial flag on land and sea for 50 years) that were raised or displayed within Canadian's boundaries in earlier years;
  - o next she continued by providing some information regarding the Great Flag Debate that had taken place in earlier times :
    - in June 1964, Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson introduced a bill to give Canada its own flag;
    - some of the country hated the idea and they wanted to keep our connection to Britain clear and didn't want to change our flag;
    - one of these individuals was John Diefenbaker, who was our previous prime minister and at that time was leader of the opposition;
    - a Parliamentary committee was formed with 15 members from the parties in the House of Commons;
